Dear All

Donations to the Food Bank

On behalf of Kelso Churches Together, can I thank you most sincerely for the very welcome donations which recently came into the Food Bank.

2018 was especially hard for some of the families we support, and the upcoming winter months usually mean additional demands, so it is reassuring to know that our shelves are currently well stocked, thanks in no small measure to your thoughtfulness and continued generosity.

When food parcels are delivered, there is usually a verbal expression of gratitude but rarely do we get a written thank you or any indication of personal circumstances. However, let me summarise a letter we received recently from a lady who found herself in difficulties due to bereavement, and forced to choose between paying her bills, heating, or food. After expressing her gratitude, she concluded that her faith in human nature had been restored. It is moments such as this that makes us feel that we are making a difference, and gifts such as yours that enable us to continue to do so.

So thank you all, from the Food Bank volunteers, but more importantly, from those we serve.

Yours sincerely
